Solutions for leasing companies

Maximise the value of your vehicle portfolio.

Your challenges

As a leasing company, vehicles are the main assets of your business. The value of your vehicle portfolio is reflected in your balance sheets, so you need to ensure this is correctly assessed in order to get the best possible return on your investment. Your company must also recondition and clean vehicles that have been returned to improve their marketability, and a rapid turnaround is needed to maximise your investment. In addition, a significant amount of paperwork needs to be completed such as vehicle registrations, de-registrations and procurement of license plates.

What services are available for leasing companies?

Leasing companies require services that preserve the value of assets and enable them to react quickly to competitive environments. Examples of such services include vehicle conditioning, damage assessments, quality and process optimisation, and performance audits.

How do these solutions improve your business?

These solutions help to manage the operative aspects of your business, streamline operations, free up resources and improve the overall profitability of your business.

How can we help you?

TÜV SÜD has over 100 years of experience in transportation solutions. Following an examination of the different aspects of your business, we provide advice on how best to optimise your operations for efficiency and profitability. Based on your business objectives and requirements, we can customise solutions that address every stage of the value chain.
